The Chiba Institute of Technology's Founding Spirit

Contributing to the World Culture with Technology

Purpose of Our Graduate Schools

Building on the foundations of undergraduate training, ChibaTech's graduate schools have the goal of contributing to civilization's advancement through mastery of the most profound aspects of engineering, providing instruction and conducting research pertaining to both theory and practical applications.

Chiba Institute of Technology Graduate School Admissions Policy

The Types of Students Chibatech's Graduate Schools Seek We seek students who:

- Understand Chibatech's philosophy and the basic educational philosophies that define the graduate schools' educational goals
 - Possess the strong motivation to contribute to increasingly sophisticated fields of science and technology
 - Seek to acquire their own sets of sophisticated specialized and interdisciplinary expertise and skills
 - Are highly eager to apply all the above in original and creative ways
- That is to say, we look for students who have the capacity to grow into sophisticated, specialized technicians and researchers equipped with practical dynamism and creativity based on advanced, specialized expertise.

Note: Please refer to the ChibaTech website for the admissions policies of each respective graduate school and academic major.

Note: About the accelerated program individuals whose achievements in a master's or doctoral program are particularly outstanding can shorten their enrollment periods and complete their program early. To do so, they must meet both the completion requirements and the research achievement evaluation standards, degree application standards, etc. set by each program.

Please check with your academic adviser, etc., since the research achievement evaluation standards and degree application standards differ depending on the program.

[About Security Export Controls]

To ensure that the education and research content international students receive does not affect international peace and security, the university employs security export controls based on the Japanese Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Act and provisions of other related laws and regulations. You may be asked to change the content of your desired educational path or research accordingly.

Note: For more information on security export controls, please refer to the following METI website.

6 Declining an Offer of Admission

If circumstances require a student to decline an offer of admission after having completed the enrollment procedures, all fees other than the admission fee will be refunded if the student completes the admission rejection procedures by Tuesday, March 31, 2026. For details, please see the Enrollment Instructions.

7 Scholarship Programs

1) Student loans

If you have Japanese nationality and plan to enroll in our graduate school, you should be able to use a ChibaTech loan system to pay your student fees. (If you are receiving a different loan from ChibaTech or another scholarship, however, you may not be eligible for this system. It depends on the total amount of your loan.) A separate administrative fee of 1 percent per annum will be charged from the start of repayment.

Note: For more information, please see the “Enrollment Instructions” section.

2) Teaching Assistant

The teaching assistant program was established to help graduate students gain teaching experience and pay their expenses.

3) We facilitate scholarship programs offered by the Japan Student Services Organization (JASSO), other public organizations, private companies, etc.

For more information, visit the following page on the university website.
